"The Well"

Take the water from the well
Ask not what you're receiving
Make it into something else
Do not look for a reason
To pour out the fortune you've found
For more hiding deep in the ground

The one I love has fallen for me now
The one I love has fallen for me now

Hold the element of hope
Too high to be complacent
Don't avoid what isn't known
You'll fly if you are patient
And look for the right way to stay
The good, it will come if you wait

The one I love has fallen for me now
The one I love has fallen for me now

The one I love has fallen for me now
The one I love has fallen for me now
