you were right, you were bigger than me i no longer see the sun, you have eclipsed it when you laughed, you reflected back the light the glow of a million creatures with hearth burning bright

i will wait for you a thousand years you retrograde like planets slipping backwards i will wait for you one thousand more one thousand promises, one thousand last good-byes you were right, you were better than me i've broken all my mirrors so you can't see what you've done to me i am yours, forever more

one thousand promises, one thousand last good-byes

slipping backwards
you were right
you were right
you were right

one thousand promises, one thousand last good-byes

a thousand last good-byes
you were right
