Since I was a child,
I've been told how I should live my life
It didn't take long to forget what I once learned
I never believed that there was someone out there who loved me
Until I found the one who loves me as I am

I can't live without you
My heart will collapse into your hands
I can't live without you
You keep me alive
No I'll never walk away

It's not easy for me to let someone in
I've been hurt so many times
This might take a while
I still have scars from when I was broken
But now I believe you are here for me
And you'll never go away
I'm holding on to the one who loves me
As I am as I am

I can't live without you
My heart will collapse into your hands
I can't live without you
You keep me alive
No I'll never walk away

You pulled me out
And have taken all of my pain away
You make me feel like I am free to live my life again
No I can't survive without you

I can't live without you
My heart will collapse into your hands
I can't live without you
You keep me alive

And I'll never walk away
