if you don't want to the circumstance will bare the naked and the lost

if you could hold on the road might lead us to a place we all must see if I could show you all the things I wish i knew you would understand

if I could let go of all the things I don't know it would make some sense

I want to see through I see light shine through speak to me in silence take my hand come through so won't you take me and help me let go of all these tired times

so won't you show me and help me to find beauty in this life
