Oh this world is such a strange place we live in now
Houses being foreclosed and families falling apart,
Suicide bombing, oil prices soaring,
and food shortages everywhere
And we hear the preachers and prophets saying,
It is the end times for us all!

Where does it begin and where does it end?
You took me down the wrong path
when I thought you were my friend.
If you put all your wants in front of your needs
You will be starting all over again.

Oh, this world is a strange place we live in now
With internet access and virtual networks
Across nations, cultures and deep blue oceans.
We lift up our hearts. We lift up our voices.
We lift up our hands and ask for God's help with all of our difficult choices
And we can hear the preachers and prophets saying
It is the end times for us all!

Where does it begin and where does it end?
You took me down the wrong path
when I thought you were my friend.
If you put all your wants in front of your needs
You will be starting all over again.

Oh this world is such a strange place we live in now
Just tell me the truth and be honest with me
In this land of the free and the home of the brave
And if you are not careful, you can find yourself a victim
in the latest crime wave
And we can hear the preachers and prophets saying
It is the end times for us all!

You can learn the hard way that your best friend
Can become your worse nightmare
When you put all the things you want
In front of what you need

And now you are back to square one again.

Where does it begin and where does it end?
You took me down the wrong path
when I thought you were my friend.
And we can hear the preachers and prophets saying
It is the end times for us all
And we are starting all over again.

And now we are starting all over again!
