Give me a polaroid picture to fit in my pocket An i'll paste it into my heartshaped locket eventually I cheat on every man I meet I know I can't help it buy me a drink and I'll tell you my name i'm a rose petal falling from a mainline train always there to touch but just out of reach I know you can't help it eye on metronome watching the way you write her name an object of destruction made fror madame ray

but drew your outline on a ticket back to London whitewashed all my boyfriend's features solarizing future pictures if i'm you ideal portrait of a girl i'll be your apprentice but you can't keep me a captive on your wall i'm still in my twenties eye behing a camera past the city music hall madame ray will sit me high above you all

but drew your outline
on a record sleeve in Brooklyn whitewashed three years of existence solarizing future pictures man let go, he couldn't keep her locks of hair on artist's easels traces of unseen love rivals solarizing into pictures

I am forever being put away and i am always in reserve

with an eye always in reserve material indestructible forever being out away taken for a ride

put on the spot

the racket must go on I am always in reserve
