everything i have in my hands it begins to fade away i search for it and i long for it and now i know its gone everything has slipped away and i'm so overwhelmed everything that rests upon my shoulders fell i would like to tell anyone who has depended on me for themselves i'm sorry
and everyone i've held in my arms i believe i pushed away i would be there if i could be there but as it stands i'm gone everyone has slipped away don't be overwhelmed everyone that loved me more than i could tell
i'm sorry
there's a private hell for anyone who lives to only love themselves
