Album: Testing Superstition (2002)

Hey how is your time spent? Do you re call the night we met?

She stood in an open field, but soon she'll burn away
You know that i wish i could stop, but i'm lying on the floor
the room is spinning as you wak outside my door Do you think that i could feel this way , in a million years if you weren't here with me tonight and what would you thinkif i said i'd love you always, burn mine this time

If you say that you love me then why would you let yourself be passed around?

I'll hold you in tight and never let you out, its just you and me tonight
