The mouse runs away
You left him bouncing on the walls
You take a left, I take a right
And there's nothing left for me
For the water that you're feeding

Now I know you ain't right
I see you bouncing to the light
For the water that you're feeding, so...

Put the monitors away
Hang your best coat on display
I don't need another way
To find out when you've gone astray

It's all on display
I guess the words are on their way
I rack my brains from left to right
For the water you're feeding, so...

Put the monitors away
Hang your best coat on display
I don't need another way
To find out when you've gone astray

What defines the me and you
Ultra sounds have fallen through
I don't need another way
To find out when you've gone astray
