

The Lyndsay Diaries "Sometimes"

Visit "Sometimes" on MotoLyrics.com

Sometimes the inspiration never comes When all you want is someone to realize your depression
When all you want is someone to say that they care

The sun can be shining but you don't see it
And the love can be there but you don't feel it And sometimes, sometimes, sometimes the inspiration never comes

And the ransom for your joy is just too much
To show your face means they might judge
They always judge

When all you want is the will to get out of bed
And when all you want is some understanding Sometimes the inspiration, it never comes, it never comes

Visit The Lyndsay Diaries page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.