Wake up it's 5 a.m. You fell in love again something wrong with living life like this At work can't help but stare long legs and her dark brown hair you give her a smile and that's about it the store at 6 p.m you see her face again you catch her eye you panic and walk towards her can't think of what to say no words come up today so you just smile and it's goodbye you say so what (you say so what) I fell in love but it just won't work because (just won't work because)

Chorus

I fell in love again don't know how it happened she slipped away again the same as last weekend oh it's a routine thing just with some new feelings I always choke up when I get close to closin in

So I stand straight into the mirror hope I find something near if not I know i'll get shot right straight back down I dress up real nice make sure my hair is right write down a few lines to tell her that I love her you say so what (you say so what)I fell in love but it just won't work because (just won't work because)

Chorus

I fell in love again don't know how it happened she
routine thing just with some new feelings I always
and I'll make em mine the one I sing about all the time cause she's in my dreams but it's never as real as, as real as it seems and I'm gonna need alot more than her and maybe you'll be my baby but maybe not because i'm all choked up

Chorus

I fell in love again don't know how it happened she
routine thing just with some new feelings I always

I get closed to closin in
