

The Marble Index "House Of Mirth"

Visit "House Of Mirth" on MotoLyrics.com

There's been a row, all around town
There's been a row of lovers
Who never go around town, say what they want
Do all the things we never should have

Go to the house of mirth
Love to this [Incomprehensible]
I sure wonder where I've been
When these days are too long

Years they go on that same old way
There will be times, lovers never
Make all the moves, love who they want
Say that they will tonight

Go to the house of mirth
Love to this [Incomprehensible]
I sure wonder where I've been
Long to [Incomprehensible]

I call to rest of us, do they hear my words?
I call to rest of us, do they hear my words?

There's been a row, all around town
There's been a row of lovers
Who never go around town, say what they want
Do all the things we never should have

Go to the house of mirth
Love to this [Incomprehensible]
I sure wonder where I've been
When these things have gone on

I call to rest of us, do they hear my words?
I call to rest of us, do they hear my words?

Visit The Marble Index page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.