"One To Blame"

Voices hard and hollow
Colder than I ever was before
I'm leaving your pieces
Of love to come for more

You always find me
Miles from where I said your must go,
Nothing sounds convincing
To the one who can't say no

Who could possibly save
Save us from madness?
Love is the common name
Again we depend on the one to blame

It's bittersweet to sallow kindness
As a consequence of guilt
So gather up the pieces
Of your last and dying will
And prepare yourself to live with
Whatever follows pain

Who could possibly save
Save us from madness?
Love is the common name
Again we depend on the one to blame
