You could fill up your heart with hate
Bind yourself to thoughts that you can't relate
Build yourself up walls that you can't escape
A fate you can't outrun

You could spark imaginary wars
Close your eyes and swing your fists back and forth
And never even know what you're fighting for
Or whose side you're on

Or you could be loved
You could be loved
I'm gonna tell you again,
You could be loved

If you're stuck there out on a limb,
Start trying to get home again
And stop crying all the time

There were words storming down the hall,
Venomous, a vapor, but you couldn't call
You typed it out like fury in a jar, that's all
I put the lid back on

Are the clouds too much for the sun?
Maybe
Are there things that can be undone?
I hope so
But I never heard a single song that could be unsung

But you could be loved
You could be loved
I'm gonna tell you again,
You could be loved

If you're stuck there out on a limb,
Start trying to get home again
And stop crying all the time

But you could be loved
You could be loved

I'm gonna tell you again,
You could be loved

If you're stuck there out on a limb,
Start trying to get home again
And stop crying all the time

Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
Stop crying all the time
