

Kam Moye f/ Neenah

"Splitting Image"

Visit "Splitting Image" on MotoLyrics.com

[Chorus: Neenah] New directions, new ways New beginnings and new days Left the path of now to proceed to the road of change Cause I know that it's all up to me Starting over, over [Kam Moye] Here I am, uh I think me and y'all should talk Just sit down and just have a heart to heart Let me just pour out my thoughts and open up Though I'm lost at which part to start, I need blessings Need to make a confession without the Catholic priest present The brother I see standing here The man in the mirror had demons hanging over his head like chandeliers It's hard to backtrack, start a new beginning So starting today I'm vowing to make a new ending, yeah They say a new you is hard to rebuild But keeping some personal flaws are just part of the deal You could change all your physical features But beneath are scars, and revealed they are the hardest to heal So I'ma dream like I live forever and I'ma live like I'm gon' see my grave tomorrow I don't care if they doubt me or what they write about me I proudly smile, cause honestly pal life is God's novel [Chorus: Neenah] + (Kam Moye) New directions, new ways New beginnings and new days Left the path of now to proceed to the road of change Cause I know that it's all up to me Starting over, over (This is the splitting image of me The splitting image of me) [Kam Moye] Now I don't wanna be controlled by what my temper's telling me Don't wanna be tempted by infidelity Don't wanna have a success fetish so much that I let it edit who I am inside or feel jealously I don't wanna be around the friends who steady scheme and plot on you The moment you down, they ready to kick rocks on you I need mature friends cause I know that growing old is mandatory, but you growing up is optional I'd rather respond than react I want the wrinkles on my face to symbolise where smiles used to be at The tough guy persona, I shed it, let it go I'm Kam Moye head to toe, except it and let me grow See me as, the smarter rehabilitated version of my past Be proud of my developments, so fellas toast a glass At last I learned that happiness is not having what you want But is wanting what you have (for real) So I'm good with any success given to me And I'm cool with being underrated or unsung Cause my work is undone The position I'm in is better than that bottom feeder life I come from So this the part where you either clap for me or you grab your coat and keys and leave and you don't turn back Cause from this point I don't care what gets said Hell, some of y'all need to learn that [Chorus: Neenah] + (Kam Moye) New directions, new ways New beginnings and new days Left the path of now to proceed to the road of change Cause I know that it's all up to me Starting over, over (This is the splitting image of me The splitting image of me) [Kam Moye] Hah, Kam Moye S-1, Neenah Rock on {Excerpt from an interview} "Yo that's, that's why a lot of cats don't feel like they They really don't get the respect that they deserve sometimes" Oh yeah I agree, I know exactly what you mean People judge you unfairly in music and people judge you unfairly in life It all works the same If you was that dude who committed some type of crime years ago That's what people gon' remember you by And as for myself, I was always seen as that bitter, angry rapper who hated the industry I mean I still hate the industry, but you know, I'm not mad about it nomore Hahaha, y'knahmsayin?

Visit Kam Moye f/ Neenah page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.