The Tallest Man on Earth "Into the Stream"

I've set the rain
to be cold and hard I've set the sun to be bright and sharp
To wake you up
from your hollow dream I'll shake your bed
with a thunder strike
from my hand

Lets come all steal
we will lie and cheat and turn around
all their limit signs and redirect this this great old boring road
into the depths of a lions mouth

Just to see if theres something we believe

Our dog dog will drink Till the oceans gone

And he will pull
Till the collar breaks
And everyone
That he will run down
Will see his limbs
as they grow and bleed

But we'l see if theres something they believe

Lets say goodbye to the weather girl just let her die when we killed her sound and when the screen is all dark and charged the limousine will be parked outside in the street for us to throw into the stream
