"Fallen"

She's a wreck, fragile and scarred
Life is work and living is hard
She's tired of the pain, tired of the fix
She's tired of the games and the politics
She's running on empty
She wants an alternate ending

And she's falling,
She's falling in love with You
She's so hopeless,
She's hopelessly drawn to You

She can feel the weight of the past it drags her down,
But she's fighting back
She wants to fly far away from here
She wants a God that won't disappear
She's all out of chances
She is looking for answers

And she's falling,
She's falling in love with You
She's so hopeless
She's hopelessly drawn to You

The sun is on the rise
New days coming
You see it in her eyes
She's runnin'
Head long into the light
Let the new day come...
