* iTunes bonus track [Kanye West] I mean wow. You know? Man Lookin' out my loft window my dreams done became true Lookin' at the mirror, wondering if it's the same dude Lookin' at my closet wondering if it's all about clothes Look right next to me, wondering if it's all about hoes Hop in the car and asked the OnStar where this life goes And I drive so fast I blur the light post They say Drive Slow, I say "I know" Then errrr, away I go And the way I flew In this year or two I know this is what God put me here to do But in this excitement You just might miss A shorty with a demo like "Hey, you might like this" And see He Remind me of me Just a year ago Now he Tellin' me I'm his hero I took his CD and asked him what he's lookin' for He said, "Man, I don't know. Maybe a miracle" [Patti Labelle] Time, they say (true story) There ain't no way Your dreams are gonna see the light of day Don't believe You can achieve Whatever you're after Can't we stay By the simple minds That wanna hold you down And in his time When you Get with We'll be not far behind [Chorus: Patti Labelle] When you listen to the sermons Better ask the Lord for guidance When we say the many blessings Blessings you haven't seen Gonna give Him all the glory ? You can do anything [Consequence] Look at my injured hand My shoulder I know he's been warning me To stay out the clubs where the police and warrants be Cause that will lead to prison where the inmates and wardens be But a lot of times we follow them when we know we ought to leave Or stay up in the party when we know that we ought to leave But the women be callin' me The liquor be callin' me ? Cons took a stripper named Diamond And he gonna be conflicted no different than diamonds And the Lord is the only one that he can confide in So I don't know that you think that can deny Him I open up the Book and the message is clear I still be in the hood so the pressure is there You could grab that fast money just to get out of Queens You could add up the work that they give out to fiends But that ain't gonna work if I say what I mean Cause at the end of the day I'm trying to Get Out my Dreams
