When i look into the sky
To let the morning kiss my eyes
I feel a million chords
A thousand colours

When a fate is sealed
In a portuguese soul
All the mystery of the sea
Becomes written in a song

In the warmth of the sand
I can feel the promise stands
That the beauty will be there
And the sun will dive again

That the innocense may go
As the melodies flow
But the understanding comes
And every touch carries a glow

As i'm falling down with you
I can see your tears fall too

When i look into the sky
To let the morning kiss my eyes
I sense something passed away
And that song has melted

And a soul is free again
And the time is worthless
And the waves keep coming
Breaking

As i'm falling down with you
I can see your tears fall too

Falling down with you
See your tears fall too
