So far you've been a nice companion
So far you've been above 'em all
Next time you better start believing
Because I'm losing my faith over you

I need a new start
To cover up my tracks
In-between nightmares and daydreams
I've forgotten what I came here for

This time you settled with the least bad
This time you let it simply pass
But don't sit around
It won't happen again by itself

I've waited long
For you to come out of your mist
And I'm so very tired
But I just have to stay up make it right

I need a new start
To cover up my tracks
In-between nightmares and daydreams
I've forgotten why I'm here at all

I need a new start
To cover up my tracks
In-between nightmares and daydreams
I've forgotten what I came here for
