Explain it to her mama, you better tell it to your daughter
You know you love her, mama, she's your baby, you want her

She felt just like a woman but she was still a teen She learned all around the facts of life but not the in between
And when she asked her mama, mama said ?Daughter wait
I'll teach you all there is to know but at a later date?

You better explain it to her mama 'cause she don't understand How she's suppose to act with the strong, young handsome man

She was all so curious as she just had to know
But now it really didn't let her just to tell us all This fellow she was dating who kept whispering in her ears Soon he was saying just what she wanna give

Explain it to her mama 'cause she don't understand How she's suppose to act with the strong, young
handsome man

He was a way bit older and he had been around It took a little doin' but he broke her resistance down
You kept more of mama 'cause it seems so very right She decided this was true love on that one summer night, you better, oh

Forget about it mama, you told her things she never known Now that she's a mama she can explain it to her own

Explain it to her mama, you better tell it to your
daughter
You know you love her mama, she's your baby, you
want her

Explain it to her mama, you better tell it to your
daughter
You know you love her mama, she's your baby, you want her
