On your breath, on your flesh
On line, on time
On your head, on your chest
On line, on time

Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin and control we spin
Into the night we pass
Into the salted wax and the false attacks
Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin in control we spin

On your breath, on your flesh
On line, on time
To the west, to the left
On line, on time
Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin and control we spin
Into the night we pass
Into the salted wax and the false attacks
Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin and control we spin

On your breath
On your flesh
On line, on time

Yeah

On line, on time
On your head, on your chest
On line, on time
Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin and control we spin
Into the night we pass
Into the salted wax and the false attacks

It's what I see
It's not what I mean
I'm just faking it

It's what I see

It's not what I mean
I'm just faking it
And you're holding

Out of the light we begin
Out of the old and thin and control we spin

On your breath
On your flesh
On line, on time
On time

Hold, below, you're rising on you're rising on Slow, behold, nothing else can be wrong
If the timing is on
It's what I see
And you're holding

On your breath, on your flesh
On line, on time
On your head, on your chest
On line, on time
Out of the old and thin and control
