I run in the darkest of tunnels and climb to the highest degrees
I was toured in the forest and drown in the sea
I'm stuck in the cold in the blue
I keep looking over my shoulder for you
For you are biting you will find me

You will find me
You will find me
You will follow me always and dead be eventually
You will find me
You will find me
You will find me.

I'm losing the sun, losing my light I struggle to see First I fear to fall now I'm scared to sleep.

I'm trapped on my back in the dark I feel you so close though I know you're still far but you are mine and you will find me

You will find me scared and alone weeding and tour leaving you so barely alive better than bruise waiting for you.

You will find me
You will find me
You will follow me always and dead me eventually
You will find me
You will find me
You will ..all my.. and the snow and the hell and the dirt and the..to breathe Oh you will find me.
You will find me, hey.
