(Stock/Aitken/Waterman)

With a love for you
Being oh so true
I'll put it on a solid foundation
Being warm and sweet
And so complete
I'm locked into love's situation

Fine, fine line
It's a fine thin fining line
Happiness and misery
Lose control
Every time we lose control
Don't you see
It used to be a happy, happy home, whoo

This is the house
When you told me that you love me
This is the house
With the memories inside
This is the house
When you said you never leave me
But this is the house
Where love died

What could a woman do
Any more for you
It took a lot of concentration
With force from walls
Are no good at all
I've just run out of inspiration

Danger signs
I couldn't see the danger signs
One day up, the next day down
Between the lines
If you look between the lines,
You can see
It used to be a happy, happy home, whoo

This is the house
When you told me that you love me
This is the house
With the memories inside
This is the house
When you said you never leave me
But this is the house
Where love died, whoo

This is the house
When you told me that you love me
This is the house
With the memories inside
This is the house
When you said you never leave me

Come on, boy
It's so obvious to me, we don't get along
I'm not the woman you thought I was
And you're not the man
You're not the man for me

Dit-dit, dit-dit, whoo
Dit-dit, dit-dit
Whoo

This is the house
When you told me that you love me
With the memories inside
This is the house
When you said you never leave me
Where love died, whoo (alright, alright)

This is the house (the house)
When you told me that you love me
(told me that you love me)
This is the house
With the memories inside (memories)
This is the house
When you said you never leave me
But this is the house

This is the house
When you told me that you love me

This is the house
With the memories inside
This is the house
When you said you never leave me

This is the house
