It's hard not to think hard not to dream
When your demons keep you awake every night
It's hard not to want the things that we had
The dreams that we held when I felt most alive
If love is a drug then I admit
I'm always gonna miss that high

But it's a cruel lullaby you sing to me
Puts me in a deep dark sleep
And I've been whispering to these ghosts
That you left behind
Caught in your cruel lullaby

You made me feel there were wings on my back
And told me the moon was right in my grasp
You cradled my heart on a bough made of lies
And when the bough broke I fell like a comet
Through the sky
Oh If love is a drug then I admit
I'm always gonna miss that high

But it's a cruel lullaby you sing to me
Puts me in a deep dark sleep
And I've been whispering to these ghosts
That you left behind
Caught in your cruel lullaby

If love is a drug then I admit
I'm always gonna miss that high

Cause it's a cruel lullaby you sing to me
Put me in a deep dark sleep
And I've been whispering to these ghosts
That you left behind
Caught in your cruel lullaby
Yeah I'm caught in your cruel lullaby
I'm caught in your cruel lullaby
