Under a blood shot sunset
The desert wind scrapes against my skin
The darkness closes in around me
As remembrance rushes in

The world's not big enough to lose you
The world's not big enough to lose you
Oh no
The world's not big enough to lose you
The world's not big enough to lose you
Oh no

I searched the sky for comfort
I sailed across the seven seas
Your memory's lodged like a splinter
So deep it's a part of me

The world's not big enough to lose you
The world's not big enough to lose you
Oh no
The world's not big enough to lose you
World's not big enough to lose you in
Oh no

It's gonna find you it's gonna find you

The world's not big enough to lose you
The world's not big enough to lose you
Oh no
