

J. R. Richards

"The Far End Of The Black"

Visit "The Far End Of The Black" on MotoLyrics.com

It's in those days when nothing seems right when the world feels as if it's stumbling from a fight I pray for you to wash the harm from my back for my greatest fear in the world will be that I won't be there to stop the world if it comes to take you that I won't be there to stop the world on the far end of the black there was light and it was you

I wait in the black as you bathe yourself in light and pray for you to wash the harm from my back my greatest fear in the world it will be
that I won't be there to stop the world if it comes to take
you
that I won't be there to stop the world

on the far end of the black there was light
on the far end of the black there was light
and it was you

but you don't seem to care your smile is your dare to those around you - beware

Visit J. R. Richards page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.