You're the only one who knows the way home
You're the only one who knows the way home but you're already gone and I feel for the drowning storm rules get bent and broken - betrayed - trampled to the ground

You're the only one who knows the way You're the only one that can help me through the storm the fear of this unknown is all the darkness is still when you leave me alone an utter blackness gives into.....

You're the only one who knows the way

Dry and cracked we wait for winter rain and bend our backs into a thousand shapes you know I won't survive til' you rescue me

You're the only one who knows the way You're the only one who knows the way knows the way home you know I won't survive until you rescue me and you're the only one
