(verse 1)

now have you ever felt the pain when you're ignored by your fam?

middle child, young wild, but nobody understands everyday just passing by, skipping school, changing routes

a bigger picture for the future but I'm tryin to paint it

all your childhood friends, most of them graduated and I hate it, but you only live once so go and take it hold the moment, go and own it, take control of your emotions

keep the faith, fix the pieces that were broken remembering that day when you left out the door single mom, 3 kids and still no child support?
I was raised independent but myself is always testin me watching my back and the law's always stressin me we gotta eat, survive the streets with intentions the game is full of fakes, too many seek attention God is my protection, my perfect is imperfection yeah and it's just another lesson to be learned

(chorus)

it's an everyday struggle in this life just trying to do me i gotta work hard for what I want, it all has a price it don't come free you know in every situation money is the mind's motivation though I'm running out of time I stay on the grind, hustlin' out on these streets gotta stay on that grind and we hustle like everyday all day, everyday, all day

(verse 2)

I'm growin up you should be proud that I took the right route the things that motivate my mind, never took a time out you gotta understand, money is the mind's motivation and it can save lives but it drives into hatred it's pretty basic, it's there for the makin' it's there so we save it but the greed overtakes it its pretty crazy what we do to get paid our mentality is pay me, nothings gettin in my way I'm a superstar to your eyes and I still need a day job I still need to get paid, when will it really pay off ya pitiful, I should have stayed in school and I've been a fool

I rap cus it helps me through, you rap cus you think its cool
I'm trying to do me, without making a dance without taking commands from all the fakes and demands we all have our values, love is motivation trust is what it makes it, believe and you'll create it

(chorus)
