explain it simple only as pure joy when testaments of our creation have neared once the great storm has come has killed then cleared the first wave has spread we kept together cold surrounds true fear beneath dark skies from the last breath of cool air we breath slow enchanted by all we see then we watched as the beginning shadowed the ground and then there is still those that doubt some how as weak hearts wash away deep into flood that drag the bottom into floods dragged deep some fools lust this mud it's into floods dragged deep as these double minded decisions fall further into the trails into this test into the trails to persevere
into this this test that produces strength to persevere against something so immense with humble heads and strong backs we walk we walk amongst earned belief and in this we
with humble heads and strong backs we walk mature shattered pieces to become this strong complete
