Sometimes the skills I lack are just the things that hold me back
But they're the type of things that make me laugh the most Can we just carry on 'cause I got the gist of holding on to you
Try holding onto me

And I made my bed today with the hope That you might jump right in it Although I don't with a lot I say When I said I liked you I really meant it

And although all the perfume that you wear
Has a tendency to make me feel slightly ill
The fact it's on my pillow still is an encouraging sign

And we'll quickstep over the rooftops to get to your house
It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now
And we'll quickstep over the rooftops to get to your
house
It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now

And no I'm not prepared to sit through all the icy stares 'Cause they're type of looks that get to me the most Can't we just get along? 'Cause I've got the gist of holding on for you Try holding on for me

And I'm even toying with the idea this could be forever
I suppose all that depends on you if it's something you endeavor
And these feelings spill out randomly

I have a tendency to run away with myself Can't think of nothing else but making you mine

And we'll quickstep over the rooftops to get to your
house

It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now
And we'll quickstep over the rooftops to get to your
house
It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now

I still want you, nothing's changed after all this time
I still want you, nothing's changed after all this time
I still need you, nothing's changed after all this time
I still need you, nothing's changed after all this time

house
It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now
And we'll quickstep over the rooftops to get to your
house
It's my heart that you're stealing and that sounds
appealing to me now
