(Brewster-Neeson-Brewster)
Holding council with the king and queen trying hard to decide the fate of Mary Jean there's only one needed to complete the commundard and that's a man with a voice like a scraping violin waiting for Mr.damage
To the first doors come a male-a-calling "stop the person bribing five spanish from the window up above" students are proposing to study disarray but the searcher's markings' openly displayed
waiting for Mr. damage
Mr. damage -- walks through the doors of the sacrificial church
Mr. damage -- meets you in the lobby and then leaves you in the lurch
Mr. damage -- stands at the altar serving out the search all the faithful follow Resident wino stumbling and lurching walking cadavers smiling and searching man in the DT's honking at the people 'cos he won't take the oblong and celebrated people waiting for Mr. damage Trying hard just to keep the lit a leather flyer leaves the subway anxious to admit that the marvelled one so recently deposed was seen three days later in a brand new suit of clothes a brand new suit of clothes for a very special day
a brand new suit of clothes for a very special day a very special day, a very special, a very very very special day
