if you're sick and disease stricken the system's got a cure that you're not getting getting unless you're one of the elite and that's the only way that your illness can be beat with a nice insurance policy their eyes will light up these rich bastard doctors are shady and corrupt to make a million dollars off of someone's pain those heartless fuckin' bastards have no fuckin' shame medicines and treatments they should all be free but that will never happen in our society if your broke, unhappy they take you in if your heavily insured you should see their fuckin' grin as you pop your pills, they pop their champaigne as your paying off your debt, they're boarding a plane your misfortune pays for their vacation and the million dollar homes they resign in they don't care about your health, only their wallets their greed is a disease and we gotta stop it greed is a disease
