For too long we've scoffed at the actions of the rest of the world
What do we have to show for all our arrogance?
Division, mistrust, betrayal plague us just as badly as it does them.
And when it is time for action, when it's finally our turn,
will we let the petty difference divide us like it has time and time again or will we be able to rise up and let it all go?

We stand on the brink of leadership just to inherit an urban waste.
The fruits of their failure are thrust in our mouths, yeah,
but we can't stand the taste.
Turn our backs on the mess they've made and weblame it all on their greed?
Stand together proud and tall,
where they failed can we succeed?
They failed, will we succeed? Go.

Problems aren't our doing but we inherit them at birth.
(Hey hey)
This suffering's not our legacy but a chance to prove our worth. (So we fight)
So we fight against oppression as we pledge to do our part. (Hey hey)
Revolution's not born of bullets but a fire that's in our hearts. (It's in our hearts.)

Will is there and the feeling's strong but the messages seem lost.
Divide ourselves from another and then ignore the final costs.
Lyrics and slogans aren't battle cries. They're ideas and nothing more.
Talk without action, politics for fashion.
Check your ego at the door.
And I can't take no more, no.

Problems aren't our doing but we inherit them at birth.

(Hey hey)

This suffering's not our legacy but a chance to prove our worth.

So we fight against oppression as we pledge to do our part. (Hey hey)

Revolution's not born of bullets but a fire that's in our hearts. (It's in our hearts.)

The wars they've waged and the problems they made,
they all now belong to us.

Will we let them rule us too or crush them into dust?

The choice is yours and the lines are drawn so its time to pick a side.

Will you stand for the greater good or protect your battered pride?

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

LET IT GO.

Time to let it go.
