Can't you see it's right before your eyes? (your eyes)
Can't you see it's right before your eyes? (your eyes)

The moon's becoming red.
It's foreshadowing the end.
It's right before our eyes.
We just choose not to care.
Like a engine that has seized.
There's no more air to breathe.
We've lost the right to live
through carelessness and greed.

We rest eternally.

Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.

Overcome by brutal heat.
This world's now obsolete.
The storm has killed the calm.
Violent silence ends the cries.
Crossroads of life and death.
Extinction, nothing's left.
From sea to shining sea,
No more hatred, crime, disease.

So now we rest eternally.

Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.

Catch your last breath, as we melt away.
You scream for help, it's hell to pay.
Catch your last breath, as we melt away.
You scream for help, it's hell to pay.
And you're too blind.

Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
Darkness fills the air, the time has come.
It's one mass grave. This is our fate.
