"Throw Your World Away"

Spend our days searching for a morning song
But now our days are numbered one by one

I'm headed for concrete
I'm headed for ground
I'm headed for concrete
I'm headed for ground

She says throw your world away
Throw your world away
Throw your world away

Rollercoaster over the bed last night
And the ceiling spoke with a bitter fight
I wanna go home now, I wanna go home
I wanna find home now, I wanna find home

She said throw your world away
Throw your world away
Throw your world away

Don't let it bring you down
Don't let it bring you down
Don't let it bring you down
'Cause you're already dead to me now
