No escaping, no denying
No escaping, no denying
No escaping, no denying

She's the voice of the woman every man wishes for Keeps her locked in the tower, holds the key to her door

She's the face in the darkness every man's waiting for Silhouette in the moonlight, virgin wanting more

No escaping, no denying
There's no exit, only entrance to the tower
Is his own imagination, where she opens to his passion
Through the door that has no exit, only entry

She's the keeper of the secret every man's yearning for Hiding silent in the tower, kneeling down at his door
She's the voice of the woman every man wishes for

No escaping, no denying
There's no exit from the tower, only entrance to the tower
Is his own imagination, where she opens to his passion
Through the door that has no exit, only entry

(No escaping, no denying)
(No escaping, no denying)

No escaping, no denying
There's no exit from the tower, only entrance to the
Is his own imagination, where she opens to his passion
Through the door that has no exit, only entry
Only entrance to the tower, is his own imagination
Where she opens to his passion
Through the door that has no exit, only entry

No escaping (no escaping), no denying (no denying)
No escaping
