Some people are bad and they don't give a damn - what they do or who they hurt. - They go through their lives and don't apologize - for the shit that they've disturbed. - But they don't bother me at all 'cause I know quite well - When their lives are over and they've done what they've done - They're the people that are going to hell - Some beat their wives or pull out a knife - and stab a person or two or three - with no repercussions and no one here can touch them - and they get away scott free - But that's not the case you see and I'm glad to tell - When their lives are over and they've done what they've done - They're the people that are going to hell - They will spend eternity cursing all they've done - faced with karma consequences and nowhere left to run - They will be in agony until the end of time - 'cause they were such ass holes while alive - So try and be nice and to do what's right 'cause there will come a day - When you're faced with your maker and no one here can save you - No matter what they say. - And be glad that you were good 'cause some don't do so well and - when their lives are over and they've done what they've done - They're the people that are going to hell
