I look at the sky
And the daylight burns my eyes
Now I'm guilty but your filthy
In the cold a lover dies
And I'm told that that's alright
But I'm not willing to bite
No more lovers die tonight

I'm awake somehow
And i can see the satellites
In the orange glow of the dawn after the night
So i will live my life Like I'm not killing time Like im not killing time waiting to die.

So far away from all that's holy My halo
is feeling black and lonely
I will never live again
with innocence i had back then
So far
away from all that's holy
My halo
is feeling black and lonely
with innocence i had back then

away from all that's holy
My halo
with innocence i had back then
