If you don't mind,
Why don't you mind?
Where is your sense of indignation?
You are too kind,
Much too kind
Where is the madness that you promised me?
Where is the dream for which I paid dearly?
When things go wrong,
I sing along
It is the nature of the business
When you're not here
To make my sad songs more sincere
No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty
No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty
