oh, my home
is a frozen lake
shadows skate past
figures, i say
i laughed out
at the lines they made
while overhead
they flicker and dissipate

saying, i was born a spark and i burned
burned, myself a watermark i left, myself a trail
to find my way
when i fell, a stray

and i walked a whale didn't rest, for many a day old to sing, to say, oh
i will be again
i have already been

oh, i know i am going home but i don't know when i don't know when the foolish crack

but i will be here again to ruin and spit in
