Later down that river
Down this place where we began
Oh I still remember
Where I was born again
That time you brought me back - back to life
You really made me feel complete but then you turned around to leave

Many rivers flown
After all these years
That river turned into a joyless place
Many rivers flown
To show your different face
Where loneliness began

Jumped right into that river
Where we lost our ways
I still do remember the very first embrace
Once you brought me back to life - but then
You turned around to leave again

Many rivers flown
After all these years
That river turned into a joyless place
Many rivers flown
To show your different face
Where loneliness began
