If love was a road,
an ole two lanes with broken lines,
I'd slam the brakes right here,
And I would turn right back around.
If love was a road,
I'd make that black tire gravel rather fly,
Ignore that old speed limit sign,
And find where we broke down,
I'd be with you right now!

Chorus:

If my heart had wheels,
I would throw in the gear like an automobile,
I'd hit the gas,
Rode right back to your front door.
I'd leave all this pride in the rearview mirror
All these foolish miles, yeah, there's where I'd go.
If love was a road!

If love was a bridge,
I'd row cross this great divine,
Separating you and I,
And my heart ache would end
If love was a bridge,
Lonely it would be
So I would make it to the other side,
And I'd hold you again.
I'd go back, back then.

Chorus:

If my heart had wheels,
I would throw in the gear like an automobile,
I'd hit the gas,
Rode right back to your front door.
I'd leave all this pride in the rearview mirror
All these foolish miles, yeah, there's where I'd go.
If love was a road!
I'd be with you right now.

If love was a road!
If love was a road!

If love was a road!
If love was a road,
an ole two lane with broken lines,
I'd slam the brakes right here,
And I would turn right back around.
