There are pictures of Suzy scattered all about the room
And I don't know what I should do
There are things I remember
Things that I can't
But I know that we had quite a dance
An innocent smile A gesture of please
Somehow Brought her closer to me
Don't know if her friends saw my face in the light
Or if they saw her put up a fight
I need to believe That she needed me
But I don't know
But I do know that I loved her
I loved her so

There were pieces of Suzy hanging all about the house
As I purged the blood from the Owls
And rewrote the rite with her name as the flood
She's eternal Internal wet sun
She flew into my heart on black whiskey wings
It was long ago When she condemned me
To obsess Posses And confess...
How much did I bleed
How long did she scream
In spite of me I don't know.....
But I do know that I longed for her
I longed for her so....

There were pictures of Suzy lying all about the place
And in each one she bore a new face
She thought she could fool me with masks made of skin
But she knows not the places I've been
For no disguise can keep me from my prize
In a septic sea where the heartache hides
She's brought forth As the star For my stage...
She's a dream in red soaked dress
Alive not alive she couldn't care less
She lives on As a cruel Cursed being....
I'll keep seeing her more
For when I taint the flesh
Her spirit shifts form...

There were pieces of Suzy breathing before my eyes
It must be another one of her lies
She was jumping from body
From body to me
It's a game that she plays Can't you see
She's in every woman that glances my way
The moment I catch her she's on to the next She's a blight on my soul But she's all I know....I don't know
But I do know I cried for her
I cried for her so

There are pieces of Suzy I'll never let go
And I believe that she wants it so
It's all been her doing since the day it began
She'll never leave my soul if she can
She's an ancient creature that wears many names
It's her fault But I'll take all the blame
I could never explain The reasons you see
She somehow always hid them from me
There's no saving me
How many Suzy's Must there be...
I don't know But I do know
I loved her I loved her so....

There are pictures of Suzy scattered all about the room
