We're illusions in the chaos

English translation

Have we been lead Into an illusion...? Everyone is toyed with day in and day out without end

We keep seeking love as though we depend on it and wander aimlessly
This armour meant to seal my heart forever Will create a different me before I know it Beautiful and in full bloom, these flowers have a strong fragility Their hidden thorns have already broken, so nothing can be done...
We're caught in the chaos Unable to take in sadness or hatred, we all embrace Shadows while we sleep and seek "tranquility" from within a mirror
Break out now - light shines from a meager place Now that I have released my captive heart I reached out my hand when I found the real me
The light and the dark melt together to become one Like an illusion in the chaos What's important has been forgotten somewhere
We keep looking for it as we flow by like drifters Even if the sins we carry are far too heavy If we don't come to realise anything, time will pass us by People must go on living forever, no matter what Until the day they find their answers I'm going - even though just a fraction of light has entered This meager place, it will guide my captive heart I reached out my hand when I found the real me As though I were being drawn to the light and the dark I wanted to become a flower that was beautiful and in full bloom
Even if it meant that my hidden thorns were hurting someone...
