black & white is all around and more is coming down melt into the shades of gray hence increased fatality darkest day & blackest night frigid all around kill the rain & beat the cold thaw me deep inside

push me in, lock the door and throw away the key lay me down, wrap me up give me light therapy all is bright, all is still but a tender symphony go to sleep, from the pills this season's killing me hit the bottle, fade to black the bottom lies above broken back on borrowed time no plan to give it back self destructive in excess a private anarchy something died inside of me frozen empathy

reside in sonnet industry craven as I am
awaiting summer clarity a rapture in the breeze
