"These Hearts Burn Tonight"

Here I stand, all alone again
I shut myself out, yet another time
So please spare me your sympathy
I am not who I used to be

I used to live like in a fairytale
But now I'm more than meets the eye
I travel backwards through aeons of time
Enlighted sight come to me now
This bitter place I call my mind

I need to fly
Just one more time
I can't deny that this heart burns tonight
I'm rushing through life
At the speed of light
I can't deny that this heart burns tonight

My cynical visions keeps passing me by
Drifting away from me to join the stars
All hope is lost, another one down

Taken from above, to perish here
Like all good things, we'll disappear
Enlighted sight come to me now
This bitter place I call my mind
