Oh, slow down, you're breaking up
Use your words, don't yell so much
I don't understand a word that you're saying

Now move in, come up close
You look like you've maybe seen a ghost
And tell me has someone gotten to you, baby

Now open your arms
Pick up your head
And open your eyes
So you can see what happens next

You won't believe
Just how good it can get
We'll make a lover
Out of you yet

The fog is so thick, I can't see my hands
It got much worse, soon as I got in
And I know you're somewhere here in the water

It's ten feet deep and the river won't stop
I'll tell you what's in it when I make it across
You could make it too if you let someone help you

Yeah, but you gotta give in
When you gotta let go
Then you can begin
To come up slow like a desert rose

You won't believe
Just how good it can get
We'll make a lover
Out of you yet

You won't believe
Just how good it can get
We'll make a lover
Out of you yet

Now take a deep breath and hold it in tight

Put your face up right into the light
Oh, can't you feel that full moon shining down on you?

Help is coming from the great unknown
Just maybe not when you needed it most
'Cause I can see you already know that you're leaving

But I wish you'd stay and just let me in
'Cause everything can change
But you gotta be ready 'cause you won't know when

You won't believe
Just how good it can get
We'll make a lover
Out of you yet

You won't believe
Just how good it can get
We'll make a lover
Out of you yet

You won't believe
How good it's gonna get
We're gonna make a lover
Out of you yet
