We didn't make it we did not pull through
You shouldn't blame me I don't blame you
Now what else did you think that I would do?
Ooh as if it wasn't hard enough

I'm so tired of waking up feeling bad
You haven't been the kind of place I have
Could it hurt you now to let this pass?
Ooh as if it wasn't hard enough

You want to make it so much harder
Now in another world I could learn to forget
But 'til then I'm here making room for new regrets
Now some flowers they never bloom
And some flowers just bloom dead

The way you make me feel I could collapse
An epidemic I cannot outlast
Now how could you feel used when I feel trapped?
Ooh as if it wasn't hard enough

And just as my conscience starts to clear
I drag the river and you're still there
The way I bring you down could not compare
Ooh as if it wasn't hard enough

You want to make it so much harder
Now in another world I could learn to forget
But 'til then I'm here making room for new regrets
Now some flowers they never bloom
But some flowers just bloom dead
Now some flowers they never bloom
And some flowers just bloom dead

The way I sleep this bed just can't be made
I pull the covers up around my head
Now when I think of me I think of somebody else instead
As if it wasn't hard enough

You're gonna make it so much harder
Now in another world I could learn to forget

But 'til then I'm here making room for new regrets
Now some flowers they never bloom
And some flowers just bloom dead
Now some flowers they never bloom
And some flowers they just bloom dead
