Now I've been up and down this long long and dusty road.
And everywhere I go there's people that I seem to know.
I don't ask for much and sometimes not a thing.
It may sound funny babe, but here's the deal.
Well, I don't need no big black car.
And I don't want you to tell me who you think you are.
And it might seem just a little bit funny that.
That I don't want you and baby I don't want your money.

And if you want to have this conversation.
Next time don't forget to invite me.
And you'd better bring someone to translate what I say.
'Cause these words might be too hard for you to read.
(giggle) Now I've been good and you've been bad.
You've been happy and oh I've been oh so sad.
And it might seem just a little bit funny that.
That I don't want you and baby I don't want your money.
